Level B1 · 10 Writing Prompts

Instructions: Choose any prompt below and write an article of 120–150 words. Give it a catchy title, open with a hook, organise your ideas in short paragraphs, speak to the reader, and end with a memorable conclusion. Keep your paragraphs short and your tone friendly.

Some prompts give you the title — use it exactly. Others give only a theme — invent your own title. Each prompt tells you which.

1 Your school magazine wants articles titled "A hobby everyone should try".

- give the reasons you love this hobby
- describe what a beginner would do
- persuade others to try it
- end with a final thought

➜ Title given — use it exactly.

2 Write an article for the school website about your favourite way to relax.

- open with a hook
- describe how you relax and why
- give the reader some tips
- end with a friendly message

➜ Own title — invent a catchy one.

3 A teen magazine asks for articles called "The best app on my phone".

- say which app and what it does
- explain why you use it so much
- give an example of it helping you
- recommend it to readers

➜ Title given — use it exactly.

4 Write an article about a place young people should visit in your area.

- open with a hook
- describe the place
- say what you can do there
- encourage readers to go

➜ Own title — invent a catchy one.

5 Your magazine's theme is healthy living. Title: “Why walking is underrated”.

- give reasons walking is good
- share your own experience
- answer people who find it boring
- end with a call to action

➜ Title given — use it exactly.

6 Write an article about a book or film that changed how you think.

- open with a hook
- say what it was about
- explain how it affected you
- recommend it
